SHOT IN THE BACK.

An Unprovoked Affray in Portland.

PORTLAND, April 22. This morning Philip Cuskley, aged 25, unmarried, shot Wm. M. Look, aged 20, also unmarried, dangerously wounding him in the back. Both men worked at W. H. Winslow & Co.'s furniture shop. Last winter they had a quarrel but it had been made up. This morning Cuskley was standing on the sidewalk in front of the shop when Look came along and entered the door. Cuskley without any provocation pulled out a revolver and shot him in the back. Cuskley then ran at the top of his speed towards the police station and gave himself up. Look was conveyed to the doctor's office where the bullet has been probed for but could not be found. Cuskley has a bad disposition and has been a bad man to get along with. He has had trouble wherever he has worked. The deed seems to have been done in a fit of ill temper and was probably premeditated. Look is an inoffensive, steady young man bearing a good reputation.

FAMOUS BRIDGE UNSAFE.

Foundations Sunken and Trains Running Slowly.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 22. A bad state of affairs concerning the famous bridge over the Thames river at New London has just leaked out. The bridge was opened last October and for several months worked satisfactorily. But about six weeks ago it was discovered that the whole of the western pier had sunk seven inches and also that the stone work extending northward from the pier to shield it from the ice as it came down the river in the spring had cracked owing to the strain. The strength of the bridge is greatly impaired by the mishap and trains are running over it very slowly.

HIS MIND AFFECTED.

Suicide of an ex-Mayor of Fitchburg.

FITCHBURG, Mass., April 22. The body of ex-Mayor Eli Culley was found in Scott reservoir at 2 o'clock this morning. He disappeared about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and his team was hitched to a post near the reservoir all the afternoon. He had been sick for some time past and his illness had affected his mind. He was fifty years old. He leaves a widow and six children. He was mayor of the city for four years and a member of the Legislature in 1889. He was also a member of the 43d Massachusetts regiment.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

President of the Senate Taggart Established as Governor.

CONCORD, April 22. The Executive Council met at the Council Chamber in the State House this forenoon, Councillor Horton presiding.

On motion of Councillor Pillsbury a committee consisting of Messrs Pillsbury and Shirley was appointed to escort Hon. David A. Taggart to the chamber. The committee attended to its duty and Mr. Horton presented Mr. Taggart as President of the Senate and Acting Governor.

On being introduced Mr. Taggart said: Gentlemen of the Honorable Council: By the provisions of our State Constitution it becomes my duty to enter upon the incumbency of this high and important office. While I shall exercise a constant anxiety to perform my duties in such a way as will best subserve the public welfare, still I know I shall be satisfied if I can bring to the consideration of each official act that that consciousness of duty and that regard for principle which have characterized the acts of David H. Goodell. No higher encomium can be paid that man who now lies stricken in that typical New England home in the town of Antrim. The people to a man lament his illness and they pray for his speedy recovery. But I must allude to a matter personal to myself, through lack of years and through a consequent lack of experience in private and public affairs, I shall particularly look to you, gentlemen, who are constitutional advisers of this office in the executive department of our government. Knowing that you will accord me the fullest aid,

Counsel and Assistance

I will proceed with public business and will call upon the Honorable Secretary of State to read the records of the last meeting.

Secretary Thompson thereupon read the records, after which he administered the oath to President Taggart to discharge the duties of Acting Governor during the vacancy. This is the first instance in the history of the State since 1784 when the President of the Senate has been called on to discharge the duties of Acting Governor.

At the forenoon session of the Governor and Council a large amount of routine business was transacted. The subject of repairing the damage to the prison caused by the recent fire was referred to with full power. A communication was received from United States Senator Chandler tendering a bronze statue of the late Hon. John P. Hale, to be placed in the State House yard. It was voted to accept the gift in behalf of the State and to forward Mr. Chandler resolutions of thanks therefor. A letter was read from Hon. Austin Corbin tendering a stuffed elk to be placed in the rotunda of the capitol.

EVIDENCE NEEDED

ST. LOUIS, April 22. Two men are under arrest here for the murder of a Chinaman in 1888. They cannot be convicted without the evidence of one Ah Young, who returned to China shortly after the

A THRILLING SCENE.

Thousands of Spectators at a Bull Fight.

Precipitated to the Ground, Injuring Many.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 22. At the conclusion of the bull fight at Guadalajara Sunday a section of the amphitheatre collapsed, precipitating thousands of spectators to the ground. The scene which followed was terrible. Those who had not been hurt by the fall trampled over the hundreds of bruised and injured, intentfying their sufferings. The police, with the aid of the uninjured spectators, finally succeeded in removing the wounded from under the debris. While no deaths are reported many persons have received injuries which may prove fatal.

BRUTAL MURDER.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Parnell Criticised.

DUBLIN, April 22. The Freeman's Journal (Home Rule), commenting on Parnell's speech on the Irish land purchase bill, says it is certainly curious to find Parnell proposing a scheme by which landlords will be retained in Ireland. The Express, (Independent Conservative), says: "Parnell's proposal is a remarkable one, coming from such a quarter. His proposal asserts a principal for which the landlords have vainly contended since before the Irish land act was passed in 1881.

He Not Like It.

LONDON, April 22. The Pall Mall Gazette says we will not pretend to like Parnell's proposal. Being his, the Parnellites may support it. If it has been brought in by the English Cabinet it would have been overwhelmed with every epithet of execration the Irish imagination could invent.

Escape of William Speaks.

BERMEN, April 22. Emperor William took dinner yesterday on board the North German Lloyd steamer Fulda. He made a speech in which he asked the Germans to repose confidence in his determination to maintain peace. His efforts to foster trade and commerce were based on the knowledge that peace alone guaranteed prosperity.

Heavy Loss in a Fight.

PARIS, April 22. The Temps says that the French force, consisting of 350 troops, made a reconnoissance of the position held by the Dahomians near Porto Novo and subsequently made an attack upon the place. The French force was compelled to retreat to Porto Novo after 30 French soldiers and 2 native allies were killed or wounded. The loss of the Dahomians was heavy.

Revival of the Riots.

VIENNA, April 22. There was a revival of the labor riots at Troppau yesterday. Nearly every window in two streets was smashed by the mob. The soldiers hospital was one of the places attacked.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Mr. John Crane sends a crew of river drivers to the Gulf, this week, to drive their winter's cut to the main river.

Dr. C. S. McCardy leaves to-morrow for a trip to Searsmont to visit his brother, Dr. George McCardy of that place, who is critically ill. He will return the last of the week.

The steamer Lucy P. Miller left New York yesterday afternoon and is expected to arrive here Thursday afternoon, probably leaving on the return trip to New York Saturday morning.

The little steamer Annie is once more a familiar figure in the fleet of boats sailing on the Penobscot. She came up from Hampden, where she has been during the winter, the first of the week.

A good sized crew of twenty-five river-drivers passed through here yesterday morning en route for Berlin Mills where they are to go on the drive for the Berlin Mills Lumber Company. They came from Lincoln.

Business, throughout the country and especially in the manufacturing line, is reported to be improving and is already much better than it was a short time ago. Those who have been in the shipping business for years, however, say they never saw the season open on the Penobscot as dull as at present, owing in a large measure, to the recent fires, which have so destroyed the lumber.

Monday morning two young men by the name of Clough, left for Portland in a seven ton fishing schooner, where they will go into the business of catching fish and supplying the Port and market. Their schooner is called the "Terror" and with two such energetic young men as those who sail her, the fish will doubtless have to take it and the people of Portland will have plenty fresh fish.

There was a brisk runaway on Front and Broad streets, yesterday forenoon, when two horses attached to a heavy jigger which had been standing in front of T. F. Cassidy's, got started and claimed the road, which nobody disputed while they dashed up Front street, demolishing F. J. Doherty's delivery wagon, and then turned up Broad street where they had a straight road as far as C. R. Ireland's where they were stopped without doing any further mischief.

There was a fair market yesterday, the roads being in a somewhat improved condition, enabling several of the farmers to come in with their loads. Potatoes have taken a slight drop, selling for 70 and 75 cents per bushel, butter 28 cents per pound, and eggs for 14 cents per dozen. Apples are worth from $3.00 to $4.00 per barrel. Aroostook potatoes are scarce at present, the poor travelling preventing the producers from getting them to the railroad. Maple syrup was also for sale at a dollar a gallon, or 90 cents a gallon in five-gallon cans.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

A hay barn owned by T. M. Maxwell, Esq., situated in Webster, burned about noon Sunday. The fire caught in a singular manner. A young man with a lighted pipe in his mouth was at work digging a woodchuck out of the ground fifty or sixty feet away, when a spark from his pipe dropped into the dead grass and set it on fire. A light breeze drove the fire directly toward the barn where it instantly caught in hay scattered about on the ground and hanging down below the sills from the inside. The barn, not being used to shelter stock, was neither walled or boarded below the sills, thus allowing the fire to run directly to the inside. The grass all around the barn was burned, for a space of probably two or three acres and it was only by extreme exertions on the part of the men and boys that soon gathered that it was got under control. The grass being extremely dry burned like tinder and the fire spread rapidly.

Cumberland.

In accordance with a petition signed by eighty-seven members of the Cumberland Bar, Judge Walton, Saturday, re-admitted Daniel W. Scribner to practice at the Bar. Mr. Scribner was disbarred nine years ago, but by industry and probity has recovered the confidence of the profession.

The mysterious fire-bugs that have troubled Portland, Rockland and other towns yet remain unidentified, though rewards are offered for their arrest. A queer transaction in Portland, Sunday evening, may furnish a clue. A man walking down Spring street saw a burning substance thrown from a carriage full near the sidewalk. He went up to the place and found a spongy substance five or six inches in length, and quite thick, apparently saturated with oil, and on fire, as though just from the abode of the imps.

Hancock.

Burglars entered the store of Peter Powers, at Green's Landing, last week. A large quantity of cigars and a small amount of money were stolen. Entrance was made by breaking a pane of glass. There is no clue to the thieves.

Waldo.

The Bath ship Rappahannock, Capt. James Dickenson, is now again on her way to Japan, having been detained at Washington by a complaint brought against the captain by one of the crew, James Griffin by name. Griffin claimed that the crew appealed to the captain to send for a marshal as they did not think the vessel was sufficiently manned. A United States shipping commissioner was sent for who came, bringing with him a posse of men. When Griffin was pointed out to them, he claimed that he was brutally set upon, and beaten and with several others put in irons, and kept there for fifteen days. Two other men joined Griffin in the complaints. On the other hand one of the commissioner's posse testified that Griffin was knocked down and kicked because he drew a knife, when pointed out as the ringleader. The captain and several others gave the lie direct to the three mutinous seamen. The commissioner discharged the captain at once and told him that he was sorry that he had been detained, and asked what he

Capt. Nathaniel Teague of Belfast, died after a three month's sickness, last week, aged eighty-four. In 1866 Capt. Teague left the sea and bought the Ocean House, a summer hotel at South West Harbor, Mt. Desert, which he conducted with his son, until about three years ago, when he sold out.

The Searsport bark Beatrice Havener, Capt. Havelin, whose recent hard voyage has already been reported, is not yet through with her bad luck, having been libelled for $13,500 by the owners of the schooner Ethel A. Merritt, which was lost in a collision with the Havener. It will be remembered that Capt. Havelin's wife died three days before the collision and the captain was bringing her body to port and that the day after the accident the captain was found dead in his berth, with his two little children calmly sleeping beside him. The bodies of the captain and Mrs. Havelin were buried at sea by the superstitious crew, who abandoned the bark saloon as it reached Brooklyn last Thursday, declaring that it was unlucky. The U. S. marshal, who promptly visited the vessel, found a watchman in charge, and the two children who were crying, and seemed to be half starved. Not a particle of food was found on board, and the captain's cabin was in great disorder. Mrs. Havelin's dresses being scattered over the floor, and all the lockers emptied of their contents. A man who said he is a brother of Capt. Havelin came to the yard Friday and took the children, who will be sent to relatives in Boston. There is nobody on hand to tell how Capt. Havelin died or how his cabin came to be rifled of part of its contents, and some ugly rumors are afloat.

West Levant Letter.

[Regular Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

Mr. Fred Turner, who moved last fall from this place to Exeter, while at work in a mill at the latter place, recently jammed his foot badly, breaking one toe and badly injuring another. Rather a curious instance of mistaken reports being circulated occurred at the time. While Mr. Turner was in the doctor's office having his injuries cared for, a gentleman came in who remarked that there had been a bad accident down to the mill, a man having had his leg broken in three places. Mr. Turner quickly rectified the mistake by acknowledging himself to be the man and that it was a much smaller member which was broken.

Mr. Will Felker is soon to move with his family to Richardson Lake where he is engaged by the Lewiston Union Water Power Company to take the place formerly occupied by Mr. George Allen, that of taking care of a dam at the lake. Mr. Allen is to be employed on a farm near Boston.

Mr. H. M. Doyen has gone to Veazie where he is engaged in a mill as filler, for Mr. Strickland. Mr. Doyen is an experienced hand at the business and commands good wages.

A usurer at Aschersleben, Germany, has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment, 2,000 marks fine and five years' police survel lance for charging an army officer 150 per cent. interest on money loaned.

Prince Bismarck has 103 decorations. Fourteen are set in diamonds of great value. He belongs to no English order. The late Czar of Russia gave him the Order of St. Andrew, the most important in Russia. Bismarck's diamond star belonging to this order is worth $50,000.

The Cornell University Library possesses an Oriental manuscript written on palm leaves, consisting of 105 strips or leaves, each seven by one and a quarter inches, fastened together by a cord passing through a hole in the centre of each leaf. The writing is done on each side of the leaves by etching the characters with a sharp instrument on the palm leaves, which have been afterward rubbed over with black pigment.

An example of "English as she is wrote" is found in an interesting Portuguese official document. The leaflet contains "instruction concerning tobacco," and is issued by the Custom House authorities. Here is one of its clauses: "All tobacco the said visit may find on board, besides what may have been manifested in this transgression, will be subject to imprisonment and other penalties the law imposes."

At a sale of autographs in Paris the other day, a letter from Balzac to David d'Angers the famous sculptor, came to light. In it Balzac gives an interesting account of his working processes. He said that when engaged on an important novel he arose from three in the morning until four in the afternoon; then he allowed himself an hour for recreation, and in the evening he read and corrected proofs until his early bedtime. "Therefore," he wrote to David, "you will understand that it is quite impossible for me to come to see you. I have a dozen books on the back, and cannot attend to them."

Philadelphia has lost a favorite citizen in Mr. George H. Stuart, the philanthropist, who, as head of the United States Christian Commission during the war, was instrumental in raising $6,000,000, used to promote the spiritual and temporal welfare of the officers, soldiers, and sailors of the army and navy.

It is stated that the new German chancellor, General Von Caprivi, is of Italian origin, as his name reveals. The family Caprivi during the Middle Ages inhabited the ancient Duchy of Friuli. In the history of Goritz the noble family of "De Caprive" is spoken of, and on the banks of the Serra, near Goritz, was the birthplace in the thirteenth century of many members of that ancient family. They were thus called by the name "Kopriva," which means "nettle," and in their arms was a branch of that plant.

A Berlin dispatch reports that a curious ceremony has occurred at Ellsdorf. Two Japanese young men of noble birth were baptized, and renounced their nationalities and nationality. Count Aime of Saddo now becomes plain Herr Curt, and will study at the military school with a view of becoming a Prussian officer. Viscount Kobayakawa of Tokio will be known in the future as Herr Bruno, and intends to study for the German bar. The cause assigned for this remarkable act on the part of the Japanese is that they have fallen in love with two sisters, daughters of a good old Brandenburg family. The young ladies declined to accept the addresses of the young men unless they consented to become Christians and naturalized Germans.

It is related that Thomas Carlyle, while on a visit to the Provost of Kirkcaldy, a worthy elder who conducted family worship, was one morning invited by the Provost to take the reading, and he would offer up the prayer himself afterward. Carlyle, accordingly, opened the Bible at the first chapter of the Book of Job. He began to read this slowly and intelligently, pausing after some clause, as if to meditate on the circumstances and take in the whole meaning. On he went, the servants wondering, the Provost "dumfoundered." Yet no one dared to interrupt the sage, as his face was getting all aglow. The time passed on, and yet he was only beating to his work. After finishing the whole forty-two chapters, he quietly closed the Bible, and remarked, "That is a marvelous little little drama, only to be appreciated when read right through." Carlyle used to wonder that the invitation was not repeated.

LOST AND FOUND.

They Consider Themselves Fortunate

A Newburg man who was in the city on business Monday is feeling pleasant over a bit of good fortune which befell him a few days ago. Last fall he came to this city to purchase quite an amount of merchandise, supposing that he had with him a pocket book containing quite a sum of money. When he came to settle for his purchases he found that he had no money, and naturally supposed that he had lost it, or been robbed. Nothing has occurred to change that opinion until a few days ago, when he put on a pair of boots which he had not worn since the previous fall. There was some obstacle in the bottom of one of them, and taking it off and turning it bottom upwards out dropped the wallet which had been there for several months. In it were $60 in ten and five dollar bills, and the owner considers that he has much to. He cannot account for the wallet being found in the boot, as he did not place it there himself and does not know of anybody else doing so.

Speaking of luck with money is a reminder of another affair which happened in this city not long ago. A man from [illegible] Monday. Bishop E. John's Episcopal Society

The "Jahrmarkt" had a most successful opening last evening at City Hall, and the pleasant anticipations which have been held in regard to it were fully realized by all. There was a large attendance, which showed the interest that is being taken in the event, and it was the unanimous opinion that the endeavors to entertain had been eminently successful. The "Jahrmarkt" is given under the auspices of St. John's Episcopal society and the ladies who have it in charge have arranged a charming event, and it will repay all to visit the hall this afternoon and evening.

The interior of the hall, although it has been the scene of many entertainments, never looked so attractive as last evening, owing to the tasteful efforts of the ladies, who have made it a bower of beauty with the handsome decorations which have been used. The galleries are festooned with red and in the rear is a handsome German flag prettily draped. Upon the left hand at the upper end of the hall is the candy booth, handsomely arranged in Turkish fashion with rugs, portieres, cresents and divans. It is presided over by Mrs. G. C. Gardner, Mrs. M. E. Mudgett, Misses White, Miss Gardner and Miss French.

Hon. E. C. Goodnow, United States Consul at St. Stephen, N. B., is in Washington on business connected with the State Department.

Rev. H. A. Clifford, for two years pastor of the M. E. church at Waterville, delivered his farewell sermon Sunday. Mr. Clifford is soon to go on a trip to Europe where he intends to spend a year. The pulpit will be supplied, until the M. E. Conference appoints his successor.

Many expressed the desire that the play might be given again before long, and that they might be able to witness its repetition. Mrs. Plaisted made a very bright and pleasing "Miss Bengaline" and her slang was very amusing. Miss Mason as well adapted to the role of "Lady Landpoor," and her portrayal was excellingly good. Miss Garland's "Mrs. Jhones" was a very praiseworthy interpretation. Mr. Boardman made a very effective "Edward Ralstod," and Mr. Davis was very amusing in the part of "Chauncey Oglethorpe." The musical selections which were introduced added much to the enjoyment of the audience. The stage was very prettily arranged for the occasion.

CHILDREN'S CARNIVAL THIS AFTERNOON.

This afternoon there will be a great sale of dolls and everything that a doll's heart could possible desire, from the serviceable kitchen apron to the daintiest parlor luxury gown. Let the children go and have one afternoon to themselves, they know best what their dollies need and so ought to be allowed to do their own shopping. Mammas are often invited out to tea but it is not often that a dainty supper is served expressly for the children as this has been. Let them go and enjoy it. The hall will be open at half past two, "Jack in Fairyland" will be given at three. Supper will be served from 4.30 to 5.30. Supper will again be served from 6.30 to 7.30, and at 8 dancing will begin. A very large attendance is expected.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Tilbury Company in "The Silver King."

That effective drama "The Silver King" was the play given by the Tilbury Company, at the Opera House, last night, and there was a good sized audience present. The presentation passed off in a smooth manner and the audience evidently enjoyed it. The company is playing at popular prices and is giving its audiences their money's worth each night. The part of "Wilfred Denver, the Silver King," made famous by Frank Chanfrau, was well taken by Mr. Lewis, and Miss Tilbury made a very pleasing "Nellie Denver." The other parts were in good hands.

To-night the play will be "East Lynne" and it will give Miss Tilbury the opportunity to assume her first star part of the week.
